

England Kirtan Yatra

A

Tour

Cross-cultural Inspiration

For Musicians and Non-Musicians

Join your Khalsa family for an uplifting vacation filled with rich history, ancient locations and connection to the largest body of the Sikhs outside India. Walk along the battlements of a Medieval castle built by the Romans; or enjoy a Cream Tea in a 300 year-old Manor house. And then be whisked off to one of the largest gurdwaras in the world to sing Gurbani and meet some of our British Khalsas.

Eight nights and seven days of wonder, delight and inspiration. Traveling in a comfortable private touring bus (coach), we will start in London and chart a course through some of the most beautiful English countryside imaginable, stopping in at some notable gurdwaras along the way. Windsor Castle (family home of Queen Elizabeth), Winchester, Stonehenge, Glastonbury, Bath, South Wales, Warrick Castle, Stratford-upon-Avon, the Cotswolds and Oxford are the main stops. But there will be many small detours along the way and time to explore down narrow lanes with rows of curious-looking Tudor-style shops. In Stratford-upon-Avon we will attend a performance of a play by the Royal Shakespeare Company. Six scheduled kirtan programs at gurdwaras throughout Britain will bring us deep into the heart of the Khalsa experience in the UK – giving us a chance to exchange joy and energy with our Sikh brothers and sisters through the singing of kirtan.

All accommodation will be at quality hotels with some having a distinctly British charm, while others being of a more familiar Western style. Most meals will be provided and a group morning sadhana will be available.
